The Durst Organization & chashama present the 4 semi-finalists for international design competition of proposals for a river-to-river auto-free light rail boulevard on Manhattan's 42nd Street.

Exhibition: November 17, 2014 - January 5, 2015, Open Monday-Friday, 8am-7pm

RECEPTION FOR THE WINNERS - Tuesday, November 18, 6-8pm

The Lobby Gallery of 4 Times Square (42nd between Broadway and Avenue of the Americas)

The competition is intended to spur architects, planners, and urban designers from around the world to develop creative proposals for remaking this important but noisy, traffic-clogged street into a world-class pedestrian environment and public space that is served by a high-quality, low-floor, modern surface light rail tram. The winning designs utilize the potential of the boulevard to inspire New Yorkers and the city's elected officials to transform the street into a model for a 21st century live/work space and important public transportation corridor.
